

References

- Akman, O. (2015). Analysis of TPACK self-efficacy perception levels of social studies teachers and pre-service teachers. International Journal of Contemporary Educational Research, 2(1), 1-12.
- Akman, Ö., & Güven, C. (2015). TPACK survey development study for social sciences teachers and teacher candidates. Online Submission, 1(1), 1-10.
- Cheung, R., & Vogel, D. (2014). Activity theory as a design framework for collaborative learning using google applications technology. Springer.
- El-Sheikh, M., & Sadeh, A. (2015). i. sleep and development: Introduction to the monograph. Monographs of the Society for Research in Child Development, 80(1), 1-14.
- Engeström, Y. (2014). Activity theory and learning at work Springer.
- Graham, C. R. (2011). Theoretical Considerations for Understanding Technological Pedagogical Content Knowledge (TPACK). Computers & Education, 57(2011), 1953–1969. doi:10.1016/j.compedu.2011.04.01
- <http://www.ascilite.org.au/ajet/ajet28/rambe-2.html>
- <http://www.wisegeek.com/what-is-an-activity-theory.htm>
- <https://sites.google.com/site/socialapproacheslearning/activity-theory---summary>
- <http://mkoehler.educ.msu.edu/tpack/what-is-tpack/>
- <https://explorable.com/ecological-systems-theory>
- http://online.uncg.edu/courses/ses460/images/unit1/bronfrenbrenner_large.jpg
- Marshall, J. D. (2015). Is there an academic benefit to participating in extracurricular activities? A systemic review and meta-analysis.
- McCormick, D. (2015). Contextualizing Parenting within a Needs Theory Framework: A Qualitative Study.
- Phillips, M. Re-contextualising TPACK: Exploring teachers'(non) use of digital technologies. www.tilt.net.org 710 × 533
- Xing, W., & Goggins, S. P. (2014). Automated CSCL group assessment: Activity theory based computational method. LAK Workshops.